Secretary of State May Answer G. O. P. Complaint About Unarmed South Koreans

URGES INVESTIGATION

Washington, April 10 — (P) — Secretary of State Acheson may answer today Republican complaints that 250,000 South Koreans aren't fighting the Communists because they have no weapons. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said his report ought to be investigated by a congressional commission he wants sent to the Pacific to look into Gen. MacArthur's disagreement with Truman administration officials over conduct of the war in the Far East. MacArthur has endorsed a proposed second front by Chinese Nationalists in China, a move administration backers say might lead to all-out war with the Reds and possible Russian intervention. Britain and France have expressed disturbance over the statement. Ferguson sought to arrange a conference today with Acheson. He said the secretary of state had proposed such a meeting before rafting a formal answer to the Korean troop inquiry. One highly placed congressional source who asked not to be named said yesterday that no drastic action against MacArthur was in prospect. He said Mr. Truman might reprimand the general but had not yet made a decision. With the White House maintaining silence on any possible presidential rebuke for MacArthur, here were these developments:

1. Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) supported house speaker Rayburn's contention that the country is in "terrible danger," but senators George (D-Ga.) and H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said the senate foreign relations committee as been told of no new crisis.

2. Senator Watkins (R-Utah) proposed holding up the dispatch of U. S. troops to the North Atlantic defense force until the situation in the Pacific clears.

3. Senate Democratic leader (Farland) denounced a charge by senator Malone (R-Nev.) as the kind of a statement "that might put us into war." Malone told the senate yesterday "unwise" administration policies had "conducted a 100-year old civil war in China into a war between the Chinese and the United States."

Key Schuylkill House Group Decides It Is Not Ready To Back Revival of Income Tax

Harrisburg, April 10 — (P) — The key Schuylkill county house delegation stood pat today in its opposition to the administration's state income tax bill.

"Our position as of now is unchanged," said G. Harold Watkins, Republican county chairman, after a conference lasting two and a half hours with the five member Schuylkill delegation.

Watkins said he would have a statement later in the day outlining the Schuylkill county position on the once-defeated income tax bill to impose a levy of one-half of one per cent.

The administration meantime, fixed tomorrow for an effort to revive and finally pass the measure. Four votes are needed to accomplish that providing the GOP leadership retains the votes cast for the bill last Wednesday.

The Schuylkill group, plus five Republicans from Montgomery county and four from Delaware county, provided the bulk of GOP opposition to the income tax defeat last Wednesday, the first major setback of the Fine administration.

Of the 19 GOP house members who opposed the bill last week, 16 were reported sticking to their guns.

The other three—Reps. Paige Varner (Clarion), John S. Shotwell (Monroe) and Edward Dunn (Northumberland) — wavered in their opposition after a weekend at home.

All three said there was a possibility they may switch their "no" votes to "yes" when the bill comes up for reconsideration.

Speaker Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk) fixed tomorrow for the administration's effort to revive the bill, although frankly declaring he was not sure the GOP had enough votes.

Sorg indicated, however, that if the defeated bill is returned to the floor for another vote through a motion for reconsideration, the measure may be placed in a position for another final vote.

All the house maneuvers on the income tax bill were behind the scenes. On the surface, both the senate and house occupied itself with non-controversial legislation.

The house passed a bill yesterday to establish a new licensing system for registering nurses, lower the minimum licensing age for nurses from 21 to 20 and eliminates a citizenship requirement for registering nurses.

The house also placed into a position for a final vote a senate-passed bill calling for annual sessions of the legislature.

ISRAELI VIOLENCE

Israeli-Syrian Frontier, April 10 — (P) — New violence broke out along the Syrian-Israeli border today as Israeli police were reported fired on while patrolling the demilitarized Golan area near the Jewish settlement of Ein Gedi. The Israelis returned the fire. No casualties were reported from the Israelis.

New Industry For Clarendon and Major Expansion in Sheffield Are Disclosed

A new industry for Clarendon and a major expansion of an existing industry at Sheffield was disclosed today.

The Certified Electric Corp. of Warren will install the new plant at Clarendon for the manufacture of photoflash bulbs, used in photography. Plans call for facilities to make 32,000 flashbulbs daily.

The plant will be housed in the building, now being vacated by the Sylvania Electric Products Co. Certified owns the building, but leased it to Sylvania for the past several years for use as an assembly plant. Sylvania is now consolidating its assembly division with other units at its new plant at Warren's east side and will discontinue all of its operation at Clarendon.

Stuart J. Myers, Certified Electric manager, said the latest equipment for the manufacture of flashbulbs has already been purchased, and that he expects to start initial installation at Clarendon later this month. The new plant will require about 50 employees.

Myers added that present operations will continue at Certified's plant in the West End, near the Warren Baking Co.

The expansion operations at Sheffield are being carried out by the McMillen Lumber Co.

Last August, McMillen was awarded a contract for cutting lumber on 8600 acres of U. S. forest lands. The wood is mostly terry (some 18,000,000 board feet) and it is estimated that it will require at least ten years to bring the cutting.

To handle this huge volume of lumber, McMillen has installed a complete new dimension mill on present lumber yard in Sheffield, and has installed machinery to cut the lumber to specifications for use in manufacture of furniture.

One machine in this new mill is a high speed saw, believed to be the fastest in the world.

Some Congressional Districts Said By The Committee Head to be Overmanned

Harrisburg, April 10 — (P) — Chairman G. Graybill Diehm of the senate reapportionment committee said today some Pennsylvania congressional districts "undoubtedly are overmanned."

"It is only right that our districts be reapportioned," he told a reporter.

The Lancaster county state senator will meet later this week with Rep. Richard Simpson, Huntingdon county congressman, to consider a redistricting proposal submitted by Pennsylvania Republicans in Washington.

Under the plan agreed upon by the GOP congressional delegation, three districts would be abolished.

Commission Posts Milk Price Boost

Harrisburg, April 10 — (P) — The State Milk Control Commission today posted orders increasing the price of milk one cent a quart in the Pittsburgh, Erie, and the Johnstown-Altoona areas, effective April 16.

The boost raised the price in Pittsburgh from 21 to 22 cents a quart for home delivery and 20 to 21 cents for store sales.

The price goes up on the Erie and Johnstown-Altoona area from 20½ to 21½ cents.

Truman Appeals For End to Game of Economic Leapfrog

Washington, April 10 — (P) — Business, labor and farm leaders have an appeal from President Truman to quit playing economic leapfrog and team up against inflation.

The president's plea to his 17-member Mobilization Advisory Board at the White House yesterday was:

"I've got to have the complete cooperation of every segment of our population."

With that Mr. Truman asked his new advisory group to face up to two of his toughest mobilization problems. The board is headed by Economic Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson and has four members each from agriculture, labor, business and the public.

One problem is what can be done to change the defense production act, expiring on June 30, to help do a better job in controlling inflation.

The other is the stalemate on the Wage Stabilization Board. It has been inactive for nearly two months since labor members walked out in fury over mobilization policies.

Mr. Truman hopes he can thresh out his domestic mobilization problems within the board and, by achieving agreement there, get the country's support.

News men were given a report on the board's initial meeting by Joseph Short, White House press secretary. Short said the discussion on possible changes of the defense act, which contains the authority for price, wage and other controls, was general.

There was "considerable discussion" about the wage board impasse.

Short said he expected nothing would be done about the problems at least until after another meeting of the mobilization advisory board Thursday morning.

Disposition of the wage board situation is pressing. Hundreds of negotiated labor-management contracts have piled up, waiting for approval.

STAR ADMITS MISTAKE IN JOINING REDS

Washington, April 10 — (P) — Movie Star Sterling Hayden said today he joined the Communist party in 1946, but that he now thinks this "was the stupidest, most ignorant thing I've ever done in my life."

"I went into it with an emotional and very unsound approach," Hayden told the House Un-American Activities Committee.

He said he joined the party in June, 1946, and broke with it in December.

He said he was turned against the party upon finding there wasn't anything Democratic about it, something he had been led to believe while he was working with the Yugoslav underground as a Marine lieutenant during the war.

"It took me a couple of months to realize that they believe they alone have the key, that they know what is best for everyone."

"I decided to get out. And I got out."

Hayden said he signed up with the party at the request of a Bea Winters.

Miss Winters, he said, was a former secretary for a Hollywood agency, Allen Berg, Inc., which later became the William Morris Agency. He told the committee he doesn't think the agency knew about Miss Winters' beliefs.

The one-time Marine Corps captain, whose real name is John Hamilton, was the lead-off witness in the second phase of the committee's probe of whether Reds have infiltrated the movie capital.

In sessions scheduled for the remainder of the week he will be followed by actors Will Geer, Victor Killian and J. Edward Bromberg; actress Anne Revere; writers Richard Collins, Harold Buchman, Waldo Salt, Robert Lees and Paul Jarrico; and Meta Reis Rosenberg, Fred Graff and Sam Moore, not otherwise identified.

Committee Chairman Wood (D-Ga.) said the question of televising the proceedings had been tabled—at least temporarily — after some members objected to making what they called a public circus of the proceedings.

Members said they considered the nature of the Hollywood hearings entirely different from the widely viewed senate crime investigation hearings.

Margiotti to Be Republican Again

Pittsburgh, April 10 — (P) — Charles J. Margiotti, prominent Pittsburgh attorney, says he's switching from the Democratic to the Republican party.

Margiotti was the only Democrat in the cabinet of former Governor James H. Duff, who appointed him, and of the present chief executive, John S. Fine.

Margiotti, long a controversial figure in Pennsylvania politics, also served as attorney general in the cabinet of former Governor George H. Earle, a Democrat.

Pittsburgh man sought the GOP gubernatorial nomination but after his defeat switched to the Democrats and supported Earle.

A few weeks ago Margiotti resigned his state job after the senate refused to confirm Governor Fine's cabinet appointments because the governor did not submit a candidate for attorney general.

Fine had contended Margiotti could serve under Duff's appointment until the current session of the legislature ended.

Margiotti's announcement that he will become a Republican again came after he was questioned on reports he has endorsed Democrat John Kane for re-election as a commissioner in Allegheny county. The attorney said he has "praised" Kane but not endorsed him.

Former Resident Is 100 Today

William W. Muir, left, on the occasion of a testimonial dinner, June 19, 1947, held at the YWCA in this city, when he was presented with a 75-year membership lapel jewel by Grand Master Guy S. Powell, Altoona, (right).

With members of his family and a few close friends, William W. Muir today celebrates his 100th birthday at his home in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Of a generation that won for our nation its present industrial supremacy, Mr. Muir is one of its few survivors. He was born in Carbondale, Pa. on April 10, 1851 and spent his boyhood in that community where his vigorous personality soon asserted itself. At fourteen he was teaching school, a few years later he was a foreman for the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company and by the time he was twenty-one he had established his own building and contracting business.

His life work, oil refining, was started in 1875 when he was employed by E. E. Hendricks to build an oil refinery at Carbondale. This was followed in 1884 by a job with S. Y. Ramage to remodel and put in operation a refinery at Reno, Pa.

Further experience was gained building a refinery for Clark and Warren at Corry and in 1887 he was brought to Warren by A. S. Holmes to manage the Glade Oil Works. A year later Mr. Muir built at Warren his own refinery, the Muir Oil Works. This was followed by the Linoline Gasoline Works, which specialized in fuel for early street lights. Before moving to Titusville in 1902 Mr. Muir purchased the Glade Oil Works. At Titusville he built the Pennsylvania Paraffin Works and the Bessemer Refining Company. Later Mr. Muir merged these with the Crew Levick Company of Philadelphia and in 1917 sold all his oil interests to the Cities Service Company.

Mr. Muir returned again to Warren for a few years before making Florida his permanent residence. Although on a less vigorous scale, Mr. Muir continued his interest in business in St. Petersburg where he helped build and still maintains an interest in the Princess Martha Hotel.

In addition to his chosen profession Mr. Muir found time for other community activities. He was a charter member and past president of the National Petroleum Association which was formed to protect the early interests of independent oilmen. During World War I he served on the Oil Committee of the Advisory Commission of the Council of Defense. He was elected president of the First National Bank of Warren in 1912 and (Turn to Page Five)

Two other National Guard Divisions, the 31st from Alabama and Mississippi, and the 47th from Minnesota and North Dakota were called to federal service in mid-January. They are not believed to be sufficiently trained and filled out with draftees for overseas assignment.

Two other National Guard units, the 196th Regimental Combat Team from South Dakota and the 278th RCT from Tennessee, also figure in speculation on re-enforcements for the western European army. They have been training since early last fall.

The Army said today, however, that none of these units has been alerted for movement to Europe and a final decision will await the actual issue of orders.

Miss Figliuzzi, a graduate of Warren High School, said she had been driving two years. She was startled to learn that she had been named the safe driving winner and she kept saying "they'll never believe me." Miss Figliuzzi told the Jaycees she had been reading about the awards, but she thought it was worlds away from her.

The Jaycees have been stressing slow driving past all borough schools, especially during the hours when the pupils are entering or leaving the buildings.

Another thing the Jaycees are concerned about is the use of the traffic-side doors in getting in and out of cars. Twice this morning the Jaycees saw men nearly get hit by oncoming cars when they swung open their left-side doors and stepped out in the street.

Funds for the awards have been supplied the Jaycees by four local insurance dealers, Logan Bolon, Garrison Insurance Agency, Paul Yagge, of the Warren Insurance Agency and Floyd Conklin. In addition, the Warren County Motor Club has contributed.

The drive will continue through Thursday afternoon with three more awards to be made.

Fabulous Career of Subway Builder and Owner of Railroads Comes to an End

Baltimore, April 10 — (P) — Samuel R. Rosoff, who carved out a fabulous career as a digger of subways, owner of railroads and builder of tunnels and canals in many countries, died last night in Johns Hopkins hospital. He was 68.

A resident of New York, he entered Johns Hopkins April 1. He failed to rally from an operation Saturday for what a hospital spokesman termed a "chronic intestinal condition."

One of Rosoff's boasts was that he never went to school a day in his life. But he made and lost several fortunes—and was rich when he died, although he said it was fun to make money, not to keep it.

Rosoff left his native Russia as a youth after his father died. He worked his way to England on a cattle boat.

Report Commander Has Been Reprimanded by Sec. Pace Is Denied by a Spokesman

Tokyo, April 10 — (P) — General MacArthur made it plain to his superiors today that he intends to keep right on fighting for a free hand in the Korean war.

He authorized a spokesman to deny news reports that Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., had reprimanded him for recent public statements deemed to be verging on politics.

The spokesman added that since the reports were carried by a British news agency, Reuters, "probably the wish was father to the thought."

With some British voices already clamoring for MacArthur's scalp, this seemed like fresh defiance from the United Nations commander-in-chief.

Informed sources also said that MacArthur stood pat during a two-hour conference Monday with Pace on views that have provoked a storm of controversy in Washington, London, Paris and elsewhere.

These views include belief that an all-out war must be waged against Communism wherever the threat appears; that it would be a mistake to neglect Asia in order to emphasize defense of Europe. He is understood to have asked Pace for more troops.

Informed sources said MacArthur not only had asked Pace for more troops but for greater latitude in fighting the Korean war. (Presumably MacArthur sought the right to bomb Chinese bases in Manchuria which are supply heads for Communist troops in Korea. MacArthur has rallied frequently at the "privileged sanctuary of Manchuria.")

Critics have accused MacArthur of departing from purely military problems to engage in discussions of a political nature.

The general says U. N. forces can win in Korea only by expanding the war to Red China; that otherwise the Allies face a devastating stalemate.

There are growing indications that the general and his aides are appealing to American public opinion, either over or around the administration.

The general has hammered consistently during the past decade on the theme that America's future rests in the Orient. He firmly believes, as he has said, that the Kremlin plans to win through Asia.

Now, in his view, the United States is involved in a vital shooting war in the Orient but fresh troops are going to Europe and not to Korea.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL
Washington, Pa., April 10 — (P) — Injuries suffered in a weekend auto collision proved fatal last night to First Lieutenant Yowell, 28, of Vienna, Va. His wife, Viola, 28, and their 18-month old daughter were injured in the crash.

Other Fifth Air Force planes Tuesday flew close support missions on Red supply lines.

Bitter Communist resistance was reported from the western front as Allied patrols probed deeper into Red Korea. Intelligence reports said the Reds were sending more troops to this sector.

On the east coast Allied warships hammered Communist supply dumps and traffic routes.

Young Office Worker Winner of Daily Safe Driving Award From the Jaycees

Careful driving on her way to work this morning brought a young office worker the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce $5 safe driving award.

The seventh winner of the current campaign is Miss Ruth Figliuzzi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Figliuzzi of 432 Hickory street. Previous winners were John Simko of Sheffield, Donald Schuler of North Warren, Fred Lindsey of Corry, Miss Jessie Cuthbertson, Mrs. Andrew Paucak and Mrs. William T. McCausland, all of Warren.

Miss Figliuzzi first was seen by the Jaycees safe driving observer at Hickory street and Pennsylvania avenue. There she used her automatic signal before turning left.

She drove her car east on Pennsylvania avenue, past South Street School and Lacy School, slowing noticeably as she went by. Then she made another left turn signal before swinging into the parking lot of the Keystone Garage where she is employed.

Miss Figliuzzi, a graduate of Warren High School, said she had been driving two years. She was startled to learn that she had been named the safe driving winner and she kept saying "they'll never believe me." Miss Figliuzzi told the Jaycees she had been reading about the awards, but she thought it was worlds away from her.

Convicted Slayer May Ask an Appeal

Pittsburgh, April 10 — (P) — Defense counsel for Dominic Daversa, 35, convicted wife slayer, may file an appeal for a writ of habeas corpus today before the state supreme court in Philadelphia.

Daversa's attorney failed in an attempt to win him a new trial at a hearing in federal court here yesterday.

In handing down the decision, the court ruled that if the Pennsylvania supreme court refuses to consider a writ of habeas corpus Daversa still can appeal to the United States supreme court.

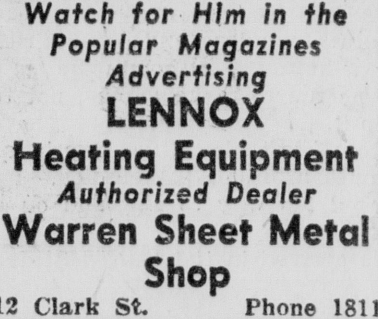

The court pointed out the action could be taken although the state supreme court already has denied Daversa a new trial.

It based its opinion on the (Turn to Page Five)

Mayor James E. Bohlender who announced the suspension last night said six other firemen and policemen were ordered reinstated to duty. They had been suspended several days while council investigated shortages in the parking meter fund, Bohlender said.

BOX-CAR BOTTLENECK

In this day and age, decisions often must be made not between a right and a wrong course, but between two rights. That's especially true in a time of war or other crisis.

For instance, in World War II U. S. production officials were besieged with demands for steel needed for new plant facilities in the infant synthetic rubber industry. Since we were cut off from overseas supplies of natural rubber, directors of this program were able to make out a strong case.

But war output men couldn't give the rubber people all the steel they wanted, despite the program's critical standing. The reason: to have done so would have compelled taking steel from the escort destroyer building program—even more vital because these craft were needed to protect our sea lanes to Europe.

Tough choices like that are cropping up again in the present defense effort. One of them concerns railroad freight cars. In the last few months the nation has developed a serious car shortage that threatens to become worse. Right now we're averaging about 35,000 cars short every day.

That means 35,000 carloads of materials are ready for shipment each day but are not shipped because there is nothing in which to carry them.

U. S. industrial production is up 23 per cent over 1950, but the number of cars on hand is only 2 per cent greater than a year ago. Hence the pinch.

The railroads show their awareness of the problem. They've got 155,000 cars on order, as compared with just 26,000 this time last year. But their difficulties are complicated by the fact that thousands of old cars constantly must be taken off the rails as new ones are delivered. In February, for example, 5500 new cars went into service but 4000 had to be scrapped.

The National Production Authority is far from blind to this dilemma. It is allotting increased amounts of steel to the car building program. March output was up to 6500 cars from 5500 in February, and NPA officials predict a 9000-car total this month. The goal is 10,050 a month by June.

But it won't be easy sledding. They foresee a production bottleneck in car wheels, which could only be broken by adding new facilities in that field.

And even if that is somehow achieved, the nation faces continued industrial expansion and consequently heavier demand for rail transport. Higher defense output will of course be offset by curtailed production in some lines, but the experts don't look for a sharp drop in overall civilian production.

Unless a really bold approach is taken, the car shortage may prove to be chronic, as it has been in Russia for three decades. It shouldn't have to be argued that a country's transportation system is crucial to its economy. If it isn't adequate, raw materials and finished products can't flow freely from mine to factory to market.

The pinch hasn't hurt badly yet, except in some farm areas where stored crops are piling up at considerable cost to farmers and middlemen. But the car shortage is a growing weak spot despite present efforts to cure it. We'd better put our rail transport into tip-top shape while we have the chance. Should war suddenly descend upon us, the system would be subjected to almost intolerable burdens. We can't risk a breakdown.

UNSUNG NEEDLEWORK GUILD

From a membership of seven Philadelphia women in 1885 to more than a million members in forty-six states—that is the record of the Needlework Guild of America which recently completed sixty-five years of work. The organization is dedicated to the task of providing new clothing for needy men, women and children—and the total number of garments thus supplied has passed the sixty-million mark. Work of the Guild is almost entirely volunteer, there being only three paid employees in the national organization. The story of the NGA, which is observing its national membership week May 7 to 12, is told by Arthur J. Burks in the current issue of Your Life.

The entire organization, from the publisher to the carrier boys, joins in extending felicitations and best wishes to William W. Muir, Warren's outstanding citizen, who today at his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., is celebrating his 100th birthday anniversary, with members of his family present to join in the festivities incident to the blowing out of candles and cutting of the cake.

What the Well-Dressed Man Is Wearing

Here And There

When the telephone jingled Monday between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock we were very pleasantly surprised to recognize the voice on the other end of the wire as that of I. J. Hoff, former well known citizen and educator, founder of what is now known as the Warren Business College, and general all-around booster when he resided here. Mr. Hoff resides with Franklin R. Hoff and family at Ridgefield, N. J., and accompanied them to Warren for a weekend visit with Rowell Hoff, who is joining up with Uncle Sam. It will be recalled by readers of this column that on February 9th we printed a mention of the fact that Mr. Hoff would be celebrating his 84th birthday anniversary February 17th, and it was interesting for us to learn the results of that brief item and our suggestion that he be showered with greetings. Mr. Hoff stated that he received in all a total of 112 greetings, mostly letters, and the surprising part of it was that they came from all parts of the country; when tied together in one lot they made a bundle five and one-half inches thick. As we have stated before

Mr. Hoff is one of Warren's greatest travelers. He has driven across the country five times, and made the trans-continental trip by train twice. Most of his motoring was in a 1933 Chevy, which he has stored on the south side at the present time, and which he may rig up for another trip most any time. He says the total mileage on the jeep is 200,000, and his garage mechanic says it is still good for many more nationwide tours. "There is no place like Warren," he said enthusiastically in terminating his cordial telephone conversation, reminding us that he came here first in 1898, "But," he concluded, "I am not yet reconciled to this situation of being parked in one place," commenting that he is very happy in his environments at Ridgefield, but hopes to make frequent visits "back home."

This 'N' That: The auxiliary members of Pleasant township fire department are planning a bake sale Friday at the Metzger-Wright Co. store starting at nine o'clock on the second floor, and realizing what excellent cooks are in that organization we predict the sale will be an unequalled success. . . . Grove City College will observe its 76th anniversary Wednesday with a special Founders' Day service to be held at 10:30 a. m. at Crawford Hall auditorium. . . .

The Western Union Telegraph Company this month is quietly celebrating its 100th anniversary, but the centennial is being marked without fanfare, the company explains, because of the national emergency; the company was organized April 1, 1851, as the Mississippi Valley Printing Telegraph Company, with its first executive office in Rochester, N. Y., at a time when an amused public was viewing the telegraph as an interesting toy. . . . Any person who argues that a housing shortage does not exist in and around Warren at the present time should interview a certain local family, registered at the Carver Hotel, after putting their household furnishings in storage, because they have been unable to rent a house, apartment or flat. . . . The offer of the Titusville Garden club to develop a wild flower preserve near the entrance to the Drake Well Memorial park, Titusville, has been approved by Charles Stolz, of Stolz and Stolz, Pittsburgh architects, and Ralph Griswold, park landscape engineer. . . . Attorney James Frantz, of this city, told the Tionesta Lions at their last meeting of the advantages of improving the Allegheny for river navigation. . . . Miss Beth Ann McConnell, daughter of Mrs. Ruth McConnell, Kane, is leaving April 23 for Seattle, Wash., from where she will go to Tokyo, Japan, to be employed by the War Department. . . . Colebrook Lodge I.O.O.F., at Sugar Grove, is making preparations for appropriate observance of the 500th anniversary scheduled for April 18 when two veteran members and workers, Ed Abbott and Christ Abbott will be presented 50-year emblems. The former is still affiliated with Colebrook lodge, but the latter has been associated with Mt. Tabor Lodge in Jamestown, N. Y.

Okay on Troops for Europe Is No Administration Victory

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—"We are now engaged in an utterly fantastic performance," said Republican Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, and he was never more right in his life.

He was speaking on the Senate floor and he was talking about the Senate's resolution on sending troops to Europe. He called it "a pious declaration of words." He said it sought to "speak the mind of the American people. . . then bury it six feet under the ground," because "there is no command and there can be no command in a simple Senate resolution."

"In spite of this," the Iowa senator said, "I shall vote for this utterly useless resolution."

Immediately after this a majority of the Senate did likewise. They passed Wisconsin Sen. Joe McCarthy's amendment saying it was the sense of the Senate that the resources of West Germany, Spain and others should be utilized on a voluntary basis for the defense of western Europe.

Then after another couple of hours of wrangling the Senate passed the full resolution, approving the sending of four more U. S. divisions of ground troops to Europe.

All this happened on the second anniversary of the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty. While the Senate's action may be considered an approval of the Truman-Acheson-Marshall NAT program, it was in no sense a victory for the President, nor for the slim Democratic majority in the Senate.

They had to give ground on nearly every point—on the McCarthy amendment, on Arkansas Sen. John McClellan's amendment that no more than four additional divisions of ground troops should be sent to Europe without congressional approval. The result is a hopeless hodge-podge. It is congressional log-rolling at its worst—giving everybody everything he wants, trying to satisfy everybody and yet pleasing nobody.

The only question is what the Senate resolution will do to sentiment abroad. Russian propaganda will probably pick up the McCarthy amendment and make the most of it. The Communies may be expected to claim that the imperialist warmongers in the United States have now shown their true hand by embracing Spanish Fascism and German Nazism.

How much Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be embarrassed by having a limit put on U. S. troop commitments to Europe remains to be seen. Certainly, in the Senate debate, General Eisenhower's position was more misrepresented and maligned than it has ever been.

How much Defense Secretary Marshall and the Pentagon feel that the Senate will cramp their support of General Eisenhower is questionable. Actually, the NATO program is moving ahead rapidly.

ALL the heat in the Senate debate was over the four U. S. divisions of ground troops. Missouri Sen. James P. Kem's proposed amendment, requiring the Joint Chiefs of Staff to certify that ample air support for such ground troops was available, was defeated.

No mention has been made by the Pentagon on how much air support the U. S. ground troops will need. Considering Russia's reported air superiority, however, NATO defense forces will require strong tactical air cover.

The ratio in World War II was one Air Force group to every ground division. So four more U. S. ground divisions would need at least four more tactical air groups in Europe. The normal tactical air group contains 75 fighter bombers.

Mr. Muir is believed to be the oldest living member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows with a continuous membership record. He joined the IOOF in Carbondale in 1872, and transferred to Warren Lodge No. 339, in 1896, with which organization he is still affiliated. In 1947 Warren Lodge, with the cooperation of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, awarded him the 75-year membership jewel in recognition of that many years of continuous membership.

Every effort has been made to learn whether or not Mr. Muir is the oldest living Odd Fellow in the world, both by the Grand Lodge and the Sovereign Grand Lodge, but due to the complex survey involved, the Sovereign Grand Master is said to have reported that it is assumed Mr. Muir holds that record, now having been a Three Linker for 79 years. He is also a 32nd degree Mason, a member of the Shrine, and as long as his strength permitted, was active in the Rotary Club and the YMCA.

There was no report of ground contact on this front.

Tuesday's heaviest fighting swirled near the Hwachon reservoir.

About 800 Reds dug in south of the reservoir threw a heavy mortar barrage at advancing American troops. Other Red units attacked French troops driving on the reservoir's eastern tip.

Farther east strong and stubborn Communist forces bitterly resisted an American advance in the Yanguu area.

Announce Dates For Exchange Concerts With Bradford High

Warren and Bradford High School bands will hold their annual exchange concert in the Beatty Junior High gymnasium, Thursday, April 19, the first appearance of the combined groups this year being held this Friday in the Senior High auditorium at Bradford.

The event marks the fifth appearance of both bands, starting in 1945. In 1949, the concert was not held because of the All-State band appearance in Bradford.

Harry Summers, director of the Warren High School band, and Rodney Schoch, Bradford school band director, will share the podium.

The 145 student-musicians participating will present a program which includes varied types of music ranging from marches to classical numbers. The trombones will be featured in "Trombones Triumphant," a stirring march, and a special medley will consist of popular melodies from the musical comedy, "The New Moon."

Army Says Pay Hike For Railroaders Must Be Restricted

Washington, April 10—(AP)—The Army has ruled that under the Wage stabilization regulations it can give 1,000,000 railroad workers only 1 1/2 cents of a scheduled six-cent cost-of-living increase.

The workers are members of non-operating unions—clerks, machinists and others not directly connected with running trains. The president of one of their unions, Jesse Clark, said the army ruling yesterday would "have serious repercussions." He added: "It will cause an upheaval in the industry and in the country as a whole. There's a lot of unrest right now, and this isn't going to help matters."

Meanwhile, the New York Central Railroad announced it is laying off several thousand employees in 11 eastern states. The company blamed a drop in business volume, recent wage increases and higher prices of materials for the economy move.

The non-operating unions got a 12 1/2 cents an hour increase in negotiations concluded at the White House March 1. Additionally, the contract called for a cost-of-living boost of six cents on April 1.

The army took technical control of the railroads during a strike last summer, and still has charge.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY INSISTS ON REPORTS

Mercer, April 10—(AP)—District Attorney John R. Boland wants law enforcement officers in Mercer county to send him monthly reports on gambling and vice conditions in various communities.

In a letter to law officers, the district attorney said the reports should include all forms of gambling, such as bingo and lotteries.

Boland said the task of stopping gambling rests with local officers and urged them to prosecute vigorously all gambling and vice violations.

Meanwhile, in adjoining Crawford county law officers also were asked to crack down on gambling and vice.

District Attorney Raymond P. Shafer issued the instructions after a meeting with police chiefs of Titusville and Meadville and officers of the state police sub stations.

FASHION MART COMES TO TOWN—Fresh off the boat from the style centers of the world, the following bevy of beautiful babes arrived in Warren last evening just in time to be prevailed upon to bring Rotarians and their ladies the very latest in what have you: Left to right—Mamie, Yvonne, Suzette, Marie, Charmaine, Celeste, Genette, Odette, and Babette. Francine was busy elsewhere when the photographer caught this charming pose of pulchritude. (Additional information concerning the girls appears below, telephone numbers available on request).

A recurring topic of conversation for days to come will be the Style Show staged last night at the Woman's Club, when members of the Rotary Club decided to show off their ladies.

The fashion preview of things to come followed dinner served to 95 at tables set in the club auditorium and attractively done in blue and white, using candles in the two shades and many sprays of huckleberry foliage.

F. M. Caughey, club president, introduced the program, Harry Summers led a community sing and Horace Stevenson occupied the piano spot for accompaniment and as assistant to Ivan Brumagin as readers of the script prepared by Gerald Newton.

Making three different appearances in eye-catching apparel, one of which is shown in the accompanying picture, the models were: Leroy Schneck as Mamie, Charles Frantz as Yvonne, Boyd Sanden as Suzette, Harold Curtis as Marie, Neil Culbertson as Charmaine, Ralph Owens as Celeste, Neil Drake as Genette, Kiski Caughey as Odette, and Harold Hampson

Maid service for the models was provided by Ernie Bautz, Rutledge Sanford, Dr. R. M. Lowe, Rev. Milton Perry.

Bert Meacham and John Fens-termacher handled the lighting assignment; Dan Walton, Bert Kinney and Lee Thompson, the staging; Boyd Sanden, Horace Stevenson and Frank Redding, the music.

Churchill to Talk For Free at the University of Pa.

Philadelphia, April 10—(AP)—Winston Churchill, who will deliver a major address at the University of Pennsylvania next month, won't take a penny's pay for his speech, it was disclosed today.

Churchill agreed to speak at Pennsylvania May 8 as part of the university's 200th anniversary after conferring with Harold E. Stassen, Penn's president, and Robert G. Dunlop, president of the Sun Oil Company.

Stassen and Dunlop flew to London to extend a personal invitation to the British wartime leader. A source close to the discussion said the agreement with Churchill calls for payment only of expenses for himself and a party of 10, which probably will include Mrs. Churchill.

Churchill's last two American visits produced memorable addresses. In 1946, he coined the expression, "The Iron Curtain," at Fulton, Mo., and in 1949 he delivered his "Crossroads of Civilization" speech at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The former Prime Minister will arrive by air May 8. He will stay at a hotel, but has requested that its identity be kept secret.

He will attend no formal luncheons or dinners.

The following day, he will go to Washington for a two-day visit. He may be asked to address congress.

Before returning to London, it's a good bet he'll stop off in New York to see his daughter, Sarah, in the play, "Gramercy Ghost."

MRS. ALLEN M. LANGHANS, JR.

At 8 p. m. Saturday in Tabor Lutheran church in Kane, Joyce Elaine Ellithorpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Ellithorpe, Kane, became the bride of Allen M. Langhans, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen M. Langhans, 105 Alexander street, Warren.

The Rev. Clarence Leslie read the service before an altar decorated with bouquets of white carnations and stately cathedral candelabra, with tall baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons flanking it in the foreground.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over satin, the lace bodice and long tapering sleeves appliqued to a yoke of nylon marquisette, and the full skirt having matching lace trim applied on a nylon net skirt at the hipline. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell shoulder length from a Chantilly-type lace bonnet embroidered with sequins and her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white hyacinths and iris, with long satin streamers extending from the middle.

Her sister and matron of honor, Mrs. George F. Cormen, wore a ballerina length gown of frosted, embroidered white organdy over lilac taffeta, with ruffled bertha and cummerbund of matching taffeta, cap sleeves, full skirt and elbow length mitts of organdy. Her crownless sweetheart bonnet of lilac taffeta was covered with white organdy, with streamers of the frosted organdy at the sides, and she carried a cascade arrangement of lilac, yellow and white hyacinths and lavender iris, with a deeper shade of purple streamers.

The junior bridesmaids were Julie Shanahan and Christopher Baley, both nieces of the bridegroom. Their ballerina gowns were of lilac taffeta with picture necklines and full skirts, their cloche-bonnets of matching taffeta had streamers and clusters of lilac hyacinths and yellow marguerites in the back, and each carried a small cascade of yellow and lilac hyacinths, framed in the background with sheer netting.

Margaret Cormen, niece of the bride and flower girl, was similarly gowned in lilac green taffeta, with matching cloche trimmed with streamers and flower clusters like those of the bridesmaids. Her cascade bouquet of yellow and white hyacinths included yellow marguerites and had streamers to match her gown.

Best man was Curtis M. Shanahan and the usher was James U. Baley, both brothers-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mothers of the principals were both attired in navy. Mrs. Ellithorpe with matching accessories and Mrs. Langhans wearing a mauve, flowered hat. Their corsages of gardenias were bordered with mauve and lilac hyacinths.

The reception followed immediately in the church parlors, which were gaily decorated with spring bouquets. Aides were Mrs. J. W. Kuhl, Jr., sister of the bride; Mrs. James U. Baley and Mrs. Curtis Shanahan, sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Roy Ahlberg.

Following a two weeks wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Langhans will be at home to friends in Jamestown.

LOUISE PRING WILL OBSERVE OPEN CHURCH

Wotta Ya Know? Some Men Like to Do the Housework

THERE really ARE men who help with the housework and don't feel like hen-pecked husbands. They've been writing to me in answer to my recent statement that I would believe such husbands existed when I heard from them, instead of from their wives.

So on their own, a number of men have written to say: "Sure, I help with the housework."

A few say they help out so that their wives can get a little rest or so that they can have more time together. But most claim they help with the marketing, cooking, and other domestic chores because they like it.

One admits he gets a kick out of comparing the grocery ads and shopping around to see how much he can save on food costs. Another says he likes to cook and is glad to get dinner when his wife is tired or not in the mood for cooking.

SWAP OUT

ANOTHER says he regularly baby-sits one night a week so that his wife can go to her bridge club and she does the baby-sitting alone the night he goes bowling.

And so it goes. Apparently some men not only enjoy sharing home-making responsibilities, they are proud of the fact that they do, and don't feel the least bit hen-pecked.

Their wives are just plain lucky. Because there were also a number of men who wrote in to say they never had done any housework and never intended to. They feel that is the wife's job.

One even claims he showed my original column to 26 different men and didn't find one who thought a husband ought to help around the house.

So apparently the men themselves are divided on the question. And there's not much a wife can do about the matter. Either her husband likes to help her or he doesn't. If he likes to, he will. If he doesn't, he takes the attitude that housework is her job and it's up to her to get it done.

Stavroula Fanos Is Presented by Mrs. Eaton for Recital

The attractive parlors of the Woman's Club was the setting for a delightful piano recital performed by Stavroula Fanos, 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fanos, Verbeck street, and piano pupil of Mrs. Charles Eaton.

Miss Fanos, a sophomore in the Warren High School, opened her program with the Bach "Sarabande" from the Sixth English Suite as arranged by Burmeister. The young musician interpreted this work in good taste, with thoughtful voice leading and clarity in execution. The Mozart Sonata in F major followed, played in the crisp, clear style of that period.

A group of shorter pieces came next. Especially interesting was "The Little Shepherd" by Debussy, in which the young player achieved exquisitely beautiful tonal color, delicately shaded. Debussy's "Gollwog's Cake Walk" brought the audience much pleasure with its catchy rhythms, contrasts and realistic tone pictures.

Miss Fanos closed her recital with Jean Williams' Concerto in F major, a work of considerable interest, especially the fascinating Polka Lento, a vigorous and lively dance. Mrs. Eaton provided the accompaniment at a second piano and, as always, drew from a rich experience in music to complement the performance of the younger pianist.

Carol Tome, contralto and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Tome, Malvina street, was the assisting soloist in the recital, singing "Dedication" by Frantz, "Love Has Eyes" by Bishop, "Last Night the Nightingale Woke Me" by Kjerulf, and "The Days of Spring" by Becker. Miss Tome sang with ease and clarity in diction, using rich, resonant tone and remarkably sincere interpretation for her fifteen years.

A delightful reception at the Fanos home followed the recital, a host of friends greeting the young musicians and expressing appreciation for a most pleasant evening.

NEARS HUNDRED MARK—Mrs. Mary Buerkle, head of five generations of children and grandchildren and resident of Warren since her very early years, when she came to America from Alsace-Lorain, will quietly celebrate her 97th birthday anniversary Wednesday, April 11. A resident of the Hultberg Block in Times Square for many years, she has been at the Rouse Home in Youngsville for the past two years, when her failing health made it inadvisable for her to live alone. While her eyesight is not very good and she is unable to continue her reading habits of long standing, her health is fairly good at present and she is looking forward eagerly to warmer weather, when she will be able to get outdoors. The Times-Mirror adds its congratulations and best wishes to one of the county's oldest residents.

MIRACLE! TURNS OUT TO BE LUCK
By OSWALD JACOBY

Sometimes the play of a hand looks miraculous, almost as though declarer could see through the backs of the cards. The answer usually is that there is no other hope, so that declarer must assume that the cards will lie favorably. For example, we might take the hand shown today, played in the Regency Club recently by my friend, Alfred Sheinwald, who seems to specialize on weird plays. West's opening heart lead was taken by dummy's ace and a low diamond was returned at once. Sheinwald put up the jack from

This lost to East's queen, and South ruffed the heart continuation.

Declarer now led another club. West played the nine, and dummy played low. East had to take his ace anyway, much to his disgust.

This play was not, of course, difficult. East was marked with the ace of clubs, so it couldn't do any good to put up dummy's king. The only hope was that East would have to play his ace on a small club.

East returned a spade, and declarer drew only two rounds of trumps. Then he led a club to dummy's king even though there was a trump out and East was known to be out of clubs.

Once again, the play looked harder than it really was. Shein-

RENT CONTROL NEWS RELEASE

Office of The Housing Expediter, Area Rent Office, 707 Commerce Building, Erie, Penn'a

Question: What is the difference between the Rent Director and a member of the Rent Advisory Board?

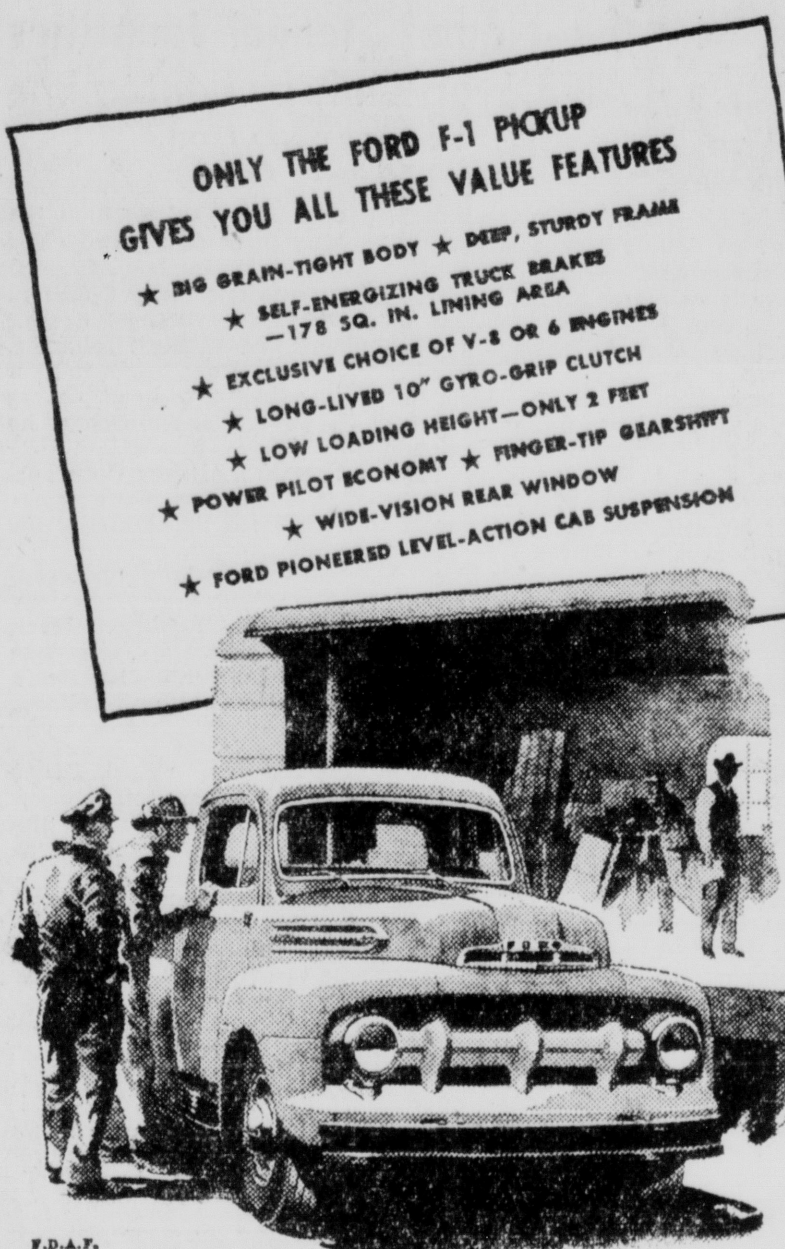

Answer: The Rent Director is a paid federal employee who is directly responsible for all actions taken by a Rent Office. A member of a Rent Advisory Board is one of a citizen advisory group who serve without pay and meet usually once or twice a month to make recommendations to the Rent Director or to the National Office.

Question: What help does the Rent Office give in filling out landlord petitions for adjustment of rent?

Answer: The Rent Office provides the service of a Rent Consultant who will talk over the landlord's problems with him and will then aid in filling out the necessary petition forms to the point that they are ready for the landlord's signature. Landlords who wish the service of a Rent Consultant at Erie should telephone the office (2-1428) for a definite appointment. Landlords outside the immediate Erie Area should contact the Rent Consultant at his regular office hours at such centers as Meadville, Sharon, Farrell, Grove City, Greenville and Warren.

'No-Name' Stengel Identifies All Players Only by Pantomime

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In the best Stengelian, the Yankees have the slickest double-play combination in "the little fella" and "this here other guy."

The agile infielders are, of course, Phil Rizzuto and Jerry Coleman. Like a couple of other old-time managers, Casey Stengel doesn't bother about names. Perhaps it's the influence of Wilbert Robinson, under whom the head man of the New York Americans broke in as a major leaguer in Brooklyn. Uncle Robby was known to keep players with names difficult to pronounce out of the batting order because he couldn't spell them, and didn't want to ask.

Connie Mack to this day thinks his great catcher, Mickey Cochrane, was Corcoran. Groves remained Groves even when Lefty, not a name-throws himself, told the kindly man who managed the Athletics for 50 years that it was Groves.

Babe Ruth was another magnificent baseball figure who never fooled with names. Everybody was "Kid."

Stengel puts on a vastly superior show than did Robinson, Mack and Ruth in identifying the Yankees and all other ball players by size and characteristics. The weather-beaten gent who quit pulling teeth to pull World Series home runs for John McGraw does it by inimitable pantomime.

JOE DIMAGGIO, you would know, is "the big guy." Hank Bauer is "the quick fella," because of his speed on the bases. Bill Johnson is "The Bull." Allie Reynolds is "The Indian," Eddie Lopat "the smart fella," Yogi Berra just "that there fella." Whitey Ford was "The Kid," Bobby Brown "The Doc."

Speaking of the Bombers' pitching acquisitions, Linguist Stengel says: "None of the new guys except the 'young fellow' has shown much." He means he likes Tom Morgan, the 20-year-old right-hander from Birmingham of the Eastern League who turned in 19 consecutive scoreless rounds.

Mickey Mantle, the phenomenal recruit, already is "Muscles," and so on down the line.

"The old guys are just getting in shape and I'm just looking at the other guys," is a typical Stengel quote.

"The guy I was hoping would come back to help us was 'the fat guy.' He's (Spec Shea) the guy we know can win up here. Before he was hurt he was really loose, throwing from way back here." Ol' Case lifts his arm way back.

Beaty range for a return engagement, tentatively set for Monday evening, April 23, while the next event on the Warren schedule will be the regional NRA shoot at Wellsville, N. Y., on Saturday, April 21.

Ross Carlson, local coach, was assisted in transportation for last night's match by Willis Loding and Joe Littlefield.

TIME TRAP

By ROG PHILLIPS

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 23

"At birth they're placed under a standardized machine that rests on their forehead," Nelva said. "It's a variation of the time solenoid. It draws some of the cells of the skin and bone of their foreheads as far as thirty seconds into the future. Actually it makes a time bridge of matter."

"You see, all matter is time broad. The instantaneous present that we picture as moving forward into the future from the past is an abstraction. In actuality it is a crest whose peak is the now that we conceive as having no actual extent in time. From that peak it drops off into the past a split second ago, and into the future, a split second from now."

"I'll show you the mathematics of it later on when we have the time, but you can guess at it now when I tell you that two particles near enough to each other to act on one another act like two waves. Your scientists before 1950 got a glimpse of that, vaguely. What they couldn't have guessed, of course, is that one particle can be permanently pulled out of phase with another, either into the past or the future, just enough so that it still acts on the other, but also is acted on more by other particles still farther into the future."

"You can picture it three dimensionally by an alternating current in a wire. The pressure wave of one cycle goes forward along the wire at the speed of light. It's analogous to the reality of the present, traveling forward into the future at a constant speed—and that analogy is more basic than you would think at first, because the speed of light and the rate of time are basically connected in the four dimensional continuum."

"So in the extra-temporal eye of the Vargian we have living matter pulled out of phase with the rest of reality and susceptible to reality as it will be from the present to about thirty seconds in the future. It's a permanent complex, and gets its nourishment from the bloodstream just as easily as it would otherwise, pulling new matter forward in time with it, showing ing it back into the general wave crest again."

"I think I can see that, a little," Ray said slowly. "It answers one question by bringing up another, though. I always thought matter was particulate, and moved in space. You make it sound like there's some four dimensionally stationary basic substance we don't know of, and matter and our reality are actually some kind of an energy flow in it."

"That's exactly so," Nelva said eagerly. "All reality is merely an energy flow along a four dimensional stationary reality, like a pulse of current along a wire. The actions of units of matter on one another, the complexes of structure of matter, are merely mutually inductive wave fronts that affect one another. Einstein guessed that. He expressed the hope that eventually the particulate structure of matter could be dispensed with, and the field theory account for everything. He could have accomplished that by considering the basic particles of matter as being what they really are—wave packets travelling at the speed of light at right angles to all space directions."

"At the speed of light?" Ray echoed.

"In a way that's inaccurate," Nelva said. "What I meant was, at a constant speed—like the speed of light is constant. Actually it isn't a distance covered."

"That's what I thought," Ray said. "I considered it more like a stationary change, like the increase in pressure in a tire, or, in an actual case, the ageing of an individual over the years."

"That's probably the only way we can approach an understanding of it," Nelva went on. "Anyway, to get back to the Vargian eye, it's not a normal body organ at all, but an artificial one. It makes a lens of sorts, that focuses on the cortex of the brain and builds up a visual center. Events in the near future are enough out of phase with current reality wave so they don't have much effect on the present, but in the extra-temporal lens they work down by induction so that the energy patterns that strike the brain cells are enough in phase to produce an effect."

"Then if the Vargian child were not submitted to this change it would be just an ordinary human?" Joe put in.

"That's right," Nelva admitted. "So in that sense I'm a Vargian. I believe to the same race."

"But you're so much shorter!" Joe said. "Vargian women are over six feet tall."

"That height is a side effect of the third eye," Nelva explained. "It changes around some of the departments of the brain and produces the extra growth."

"Where did the Vargians come from?" Ray asked.

"I've been building up to that," Nelva said. "I've been trying to build up a picture of reality as a sort of pressure wave in an underlying reality traveling along at a constant speed called time. A sharp wave like a sound wave traveling through water. In addition there are broader waves, like the large waves of the ocean that beat against a shore. It's complicated, but it's there. The Vargians come from another of these broad waves. They aren't from your past or future, as you might think. They are a different wave traveling the same path. Their reality is out of phase with this one."

"They discovered time travel, and accidentally stumbled onto your parallel reality. Realizing you would soon discover time travel yourselves, they decided to forestall that—prevent it."

"Wait a minute," Joe said. "Let's get back to the subject of you being a Vargian. Why aren't you like the others then?"

"In Varga the third eye is not given to everyone," Nelva explained. "Only to certain classes. Varga is a matriarchy, and, well, Nancy and I were not the eldest daughters so we were not given the third eye so we could never assume the throne."

"Then you're from the royal family?" Joe asked, looking from Nancy to Nelva in awe.

"We're younger sisters of the queen," Nancy answered. "You've met her, I think. Her picture is everywhere."

THE WHOLESALE PRICE PICTURE—The Newschart above compares wholesale prices at three critical dates, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Taking all 1939 prices as 100, farm products—which got a big jump on other commodities in World War II—had risen to 297 when the government's January wage-price freeze went into effect. Non-farm products stood at 222 then, while all commodities combined were at 234. From pre-Korea to price freeze, wholesale farm prices rose about 17 per cent, while all commodities rose 15 per cent.

Confidence Grows in Oil Circles That Tax Depletion Allowance Will Continue

By CHARLES HASLET
A. P. Special Washington Service

Washington—(AP)—Confidence is growing in oil circles that the present 27½ per cent tax depletion allowance is safe for another year at least.

Members of congress from oil states and Washington representatives of oil and gas organizations seem to feel that congress is unlikely to make any change in the figure this year. The administration had proposed that the allowance be cut to 15 per cent.

The petroleum industry contends that the present allowance—under which producer and royalty holders can charge off, for income tax purposes 27½ per cent of their net revenue—is a necessary incentive to continued exploration for oil.

A member of the House Ways and Means committee, who declined to be named, told this reporter he is confident the committee will leave the allowance unchanged when it approves a new tax bill.

Another member said, after Secretary of the Treasury Snyder appeared before the committee April 2, that there seemed little likelihood the committee would recommend a change in the allowance.

Similar, but more guarded views, came from oil industry spokesmen here. They said they saw little chance of a change but they added they are keeping a close watch until the new tax bill becomes law because "anything might happen."

But another problem—the shortage of steel—is causing the industry new concern.

Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said the steel situation for the industry is "pretty discouraging right now."

"There is not a loose string of casing in the country," he asserted.

He added that the National Production Administration has allocated the industry enough steel to drill 44,000 wells this year but the steel is not becoming available in that quantity.

CORYDON

Corydon, Apr. 9—Foreign Missionary Society members held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. B. M. Stoltz. Making quilts for missionary societies was the work taken up. A dinner was served and a good turnout of members attended.

Corydon Afternoon Club members met with Mrs. L. J. Whyte. Three tables of 500 were in play, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Lida Wilcox, high and traveling token; Mrs. Hulda Black, second; Mrs. Jessie Bennett, consolation.

Informal Party For Odd Fellows and Rebekahs at Russell

Russell, Apr. 10—Rebekahs and their husbands, Odd Fellows and their wives, are invited to an informal party to be held in IOOF hall Saturday evening. The entertainment will include a cake walk, white elephant sale, and cards, to be followed by lunch. Proceeds from the affair will be used to help decorate the hall.

Mrs. Mary Wall was in charge of the regular meeting of Pine Grove Lady Rebekahs, when lunch was served by a committee headed by Mrs. Harry Pearson. Installation of officers will be held April 19, with Mrs. Ruby Carr, district deputy, and her staff from Lottsville installing. Mrs. Mabel Phillips, district deputy president and her staff of the local lodge, will install officers April 11 at Sheffield and April 12 at Lottsville.

Rev. Bertil Lovain, of the Mission Covenant church of Bradford and regional representative for the Youth for Christ, who has been on tour in Europe, showed a Korean film of the 38th parallel at the meeting held Saturday evening in the Russell Methodist church. Next Saturday evening, the group will meet at Cable Hollow.

The official board of the Methodist church met at the church, with Rev. John L. Buck in charge. It was voted to send $25 to the Korean fund and also to buy 25 new hymnals for the choir. A discussion was held on new lights and altar rail but no definite action was taken. The next meeting will be held at Akeley May 24 and will be the last one before conference.

WCTU members held their regular meeting at the church, with Mrs. R. W. Hammar presiding and Mrs. Lyle Russell conducting devotions and a Bible quiz. A letter was read from soldiers in Korea, thanking the WCTU for fruit juices sent by its various organizations. Mrs. Martha Houghwot gave a talk about her trip through Florida and to Cuba. It was announced the next meeting will be

Letters to the Editor

Pennsylvania is now facing another fight against vivisection. This bill is a monstrosity. It means if your beloved cat or dog is lost and turned over to a pound or animal shelter, that after 24 hours it must be given up to a so-called scientific research and subject to every form of torture experiment sadistic minds can conceive just to see what can be done. Reliable doctors have told us this cannot benefit humanity in any way.

Training Session Is Held at Jefmore By County Scouters

At Jefmore, the weekend camp of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, the Scoutmaster's Training Course of the recent University of Scouting conducted by the local Council, wound up their work of the training program with an outdoor session.

The weather was ideal and the attendance was very good. Highlights of the program were presented by each of the Patrols showing how to plan and arrange the necessary equipment and details for a Patrol or Troop weekend camping trip. Some other highlights were the campfire conducted by the entire group at the Jefmore Lodge and then the discussion and demonstration on the use of rope and lashing by Ted Reed and the measuring of distance by estimation explained by Mr. Clayton Bannon, Senior Patrol Leader of the course.

Scoutmaster of the course was Ray Lewis and the four patrol leaders who did an outstanding job were Frank Fago, Scoutmaster of Troop 10 Warren; Lester McArthur, Scoutmaster Troop 50, Ludlow; Richard Ruhlman, Scoutmaster of Troop 9, Warren; and Robert J. Morgan, Scoutmaster of Troop 18, Chandlers Valley.

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief

YES, HADACOL MAKES IT POSSIBLE TO RELIEVE THE CAUSE OF

Aches and Pains, Stomach Distress, Weak, Run-down Conditions and Nervousness When Due To Lack of Vitamins

B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron In Your System

Mrs. A. Plonka of 3202 S. Aberdeen, Chicago, Ill.: "My daughter Carmelita, who is 10 years old and in the fifth grade, had always been underweight and I had to positively force her to eat. She had no interest in food whatsoever, but I knew that she had to eat. When we were visiting my mother in Missouri over the Christmas holidays she suggested I give Carmelita HADACOL. I bought a large bottle of it that same day and was amazed at the change in Carmelita. Her appetite picked right up and she now eats three hearty meals a day plus in-between snacks. I have really praised HADACOL, and highly recommend it."

G. E. Moncus, 221 Columbus St., Montgomery, Ala.: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a full, 'gassy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetite and my weight. I was run-down, too. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADACOL has certainly helped me, too. My stomach never bothers me any more. I have a terrific appetite and have gained weight. I have lots of energy and just feel good in every way. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I wish I could tell everyone just how wonderful it really is."

Mrs. W. O. Jones, 7244 N. Bell St., Chicago, Ill.: "I am a housewife and mother of three children. I had been feeling very run-down, would tire so easily, and just felt listless. My mother-in-law suggested I take HADACOL, as she had heard of it through friends of hers. I just took it for a few days, when I noticed I was feeling stronger and seemed to have more energy. I continued taking HADACOL and it has certainly built up my strength. I am no longer run-down, don't tire nearly as much. I am now on my sixth large bottle of HADACOL, and intend to continue taking it."

William J. Dunlap, 4404 Freer St., Apt. 2, Detroit, Mich.: "Along with the pains I suffered my body had a tired, worn-out feeling. I had to force myself to keep going. I read about HADACOL and decided to give it a try. Am now on my fifth bottle and would not be without an ample supply. My first bottle gave me astonishing relief, and at this time of writing I feel better, without a pain or ache. Am a dairy employee, 54 years old. Veteran of two world wars. Active overseas in both. I have given your HADACOL every praise to friends and relatives and know some are using it with just as astonishing results as I myself have found."

Give HADACOL A Chance To Help YOU

If your system lacks these essential elements, you will be amazed at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring you, as it has to thousands of other fine folks who suffered a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and annoying aches and pains, if due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in your system. Don't go through life suffering with conditions caused by such deficiencies when relief may be as close at hand as the nearest drugstore for sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family economy size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL.
